I have this day been interviewed by President F. Ray Hawkins of the Korea Seoul Mission prior to my release from the mission field. As we discussed my future plans, objectives and goals, we reviewed the following items which I have accepted as being a part of my "press toward the mark" throughout my life.

I will strive:

1. To take pride in declaring to my leader that I am worthy of a temple recommend.
2. To be pure and virtuous.
3. To renew myself by keeping the Sabbath Day holy.
4. To pay a full tithing while I remember the spirit of the law of consecration.
5. To find joy in communion with Heavenly Father.
6. To make honesty a basis for my dealings with my fellowmen.
7. To exult in my church calling and magnify my Priesthood at every opportunity.
8. To support in word and deed my Priesthood leaders.
9. To continue to love the scriptures for "they are they which testify of me." I WILL READ THE SCRIPTURES EVERY DAY UNTIL OCTOBER 28, 1979.
10. To seek to establish a home where happiness prevails.
11. To maintain the appearance of a Priesthood leader.
12. To be of service.
13. To carry with me the spirit of missionary work, remembering that he that thrusteth in his sickle with his might the same bringeth salvation to his soul.
14. To love the Savior with all my heart and be able to answer yes to Alma's question "if ye have experienced a change of heart, and if ye have felt to sing the song of redeeming love, I would ask, can ye feel so now?"

These things I humbly pledge to give my best efforts to this day in the presence of my Mission President.

More gold plates

THE DISCOVERY OF 19 golden plates containing the Diamond Sutra of the Buddhist scripture in December 1965 continues to increase interest in ancient engravings.

These plates, known as the Keumgang-kyeong-pan, are engraved with Chinese calligraphy. They had been hidden for centuries in a five-storied pagoda at Wangjung-ni, Chollabuk province, South Korea.

They measure 14.8 inches in length and 13.7 inches in width. They are hinged together so that they may be folded together, one plate on top of the other. Once folded, the plates are secured by two golden bands which wrap around the plates.

The plates were contained in a bronze box, together with other Buddhist relics, and were deposited in this condition in the pagoda during the Unified Silla Dynasty of the 8th century.

These plates are now on display at the National Museum in Seoul.

It is interesting how archaeology confirms the account of the Prophet Joseph Smith concerning the gold plates of the Book of Mormon, as well as the fact that the Old Testament, engraved on brass plates, fit into the ancient pattern of record keeping.

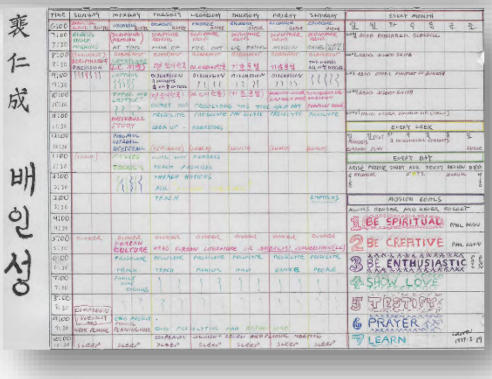

The plates of King Darius II are now well known, and have been widely publicized, as have the plates of Sargon II. Both the Darius plates and the Sargon plates were deposited in stone boxes anciently and buried in the ground.

AS THE WELL-KNOWN slogan says: "Truth Will Prevail."
